FOREWORD

by Editor - in - Chief

The pages which follow are intended to show the life and the work of the personnel of the 38th Naval Construction Battalion on its second tour of duty. No attempt will be made here, other than a brief history of the battalion and a few supplements, to depict all of the incidents and to describe the enormous tasks undertaken, but rather this will be a pictorial review compiled so as to illustrate the activities of the battalion at work and at play.

A construction battalion embodies as many personalities as it has men in it. Here, in men of all types and characters, we see a truly representative cross-section of the American people—original and ingenious. For the most part these men are old experienced construction men, but in this case, as in every case, we find the exception to the rule. The prosecution of a war demands enormous numbers of men to meet its extravagant military needs, but there is a limit to the amount of manpower that can be drawn from the civilian construction reservoir and still maintain the needs of a high standard of wartime material production. Because of these two facts younger and inexperienced men had to be spliced in the battalions. Young and inexperienced—yes, but incompetent—no! When given the chance to work along side other men, these younger men have proven themselves capable of learning and accomplishing any job assigned them.

“Can Do”, the slogan of the construction battalions has yet to be forsaken. If the tools for a particular job are not to be had they improvise; and if they have never had experience with the type of job before, it is accomplished through ingenuity. The Seabees, though established hastily only as a wartime measure, have proven themselves far more than capable of all expectations. Their accomplishments have been great and will not soon be forgotten, even though the construction battalions will be almost or totally non-existent in the peacetime world to follow.

In this text, the 38th Battalion is shown in as much color and as much originality as any battalion. Here we see the men as they lived and worked for a common cause. They had all left homes to do their bit and were separated from family and loved-ones by thousands of miles. Inconveniences were innumerable. Personalities, improvised facilities, and a few standard sports had to be relied upon for recreation, while an active mind and a skillful hand provided the few living conveniences. Working conditions and conveniences also relied upon an active mind and a skillful hand. Despite all these handicaps they worked on and on, day after day, week after week, and month after month, doing their job and doing it well, until finally their goal was realized—the successful ending of World War II.

Now they have but one job left before returning to a quiet and peaceful home. The Japanese homeland must be occupied to maintain the peace for which all have worked so earnestly. But when their Navy career is finally ended, they may return with independence and insurance to the life's work of their own free choosing.

This book may always serve as a record of sacrifice and accomplishment for the men of the 38th. It will be a reminder to friends and families that these men were once an intricate part of the greatest force history has ever seen, which fought to win and preserve the freedom the American people enjoy.

BATTALION HISTORY

The 38th Naval Construction Battalion was commissioned at Camp Allen, Virginia, 18 November 1942 with a complement of twenty-six officers and 1032 men. Primary boot was completed 19 November 1942 and the battalion moved on to Camp Bradford for a few weeks of advanced training under the expert tutelage of those tough Marine Corps drill-masters.

Aside from the actual training, the ordinary living conditions at Camp Bradford were a definite part of the toughening-up process. In fact, the experience was referred to as the "Battle of Bradford", and battle casualties were those who fell victim of the "Bradford Cough".

Then came the day to move on to the embarkation port to be readied for Island "X" and the great adventure. After a few days at the "outfitting" camp came the first hint of the contents of sealed and secret sailing orders—and an issue of arctic clothing. The day of arrival at the destination was January 13th, 1943. The location was in the Aleutian chain of islands.

In spite of adverse weather conditions, the shortness of daylight hours, inadequate clothing and a shortage of tools, the 38th went to work with the "Can Do" spirit that characterizes the Seabees. The project assigned to it were gradually being completed, one by one. Roads were built where man had never before set foot, docks constructed to welcome the visit of America's growing fighting and merchant fleets, warehouses built to store the supplies and tools of victory, and the large camps were taking on the aspects of towns with completed waterworks, sewage systems, and electric power projects, augmented with machine shops to meet the exigencies of repair. It was therefore no surprise when orders arrived that the 38th was to move to the West.

The battalion was divided into three groups and sent on its way. It was again the same weather conditions, the same problems of construction under adverse circumstances.

The new projects were nearing completion when word spread that the battalion was due to leave back for the states for recuperation and reassignment. After spending 16 months in the Aleutians the 38th set out for home with a conscious pride of knowing they had done the job well and had served their country to the best of their ability.

The battalion was stationed in Camp Parks, California and the veterans went home on a well-deserved leave. New men were assigned into the battalion as replacements and a couple of months were spent in training and reequipping the outfit for the next tour of duty.

On November 23rd, 1944, the battalion boarded ship and set out on a long journey to a new Pacific outpost. On 2nd December the battalion arrived at Oahu, disembarked and quartered in an area previously used by other battalions. Construction duties were immediately assigned to it.

But on 6th December, the battalion was alerted and given ten days to prepare for the next move. On 16th December we left Oahu for the new destination, Tinian in the Marianas. We arrived on Tinian December 29th and with little loss of time set to work on the main projects assigned to us: the construction of an airfield for B-29s.

Working round the clock, the 38th jointly with other battalions, engaged in a relentless struggle with the coral from which a giant airfield was constructed in record time. B-29s began to land on West field—the name given the airdrome—in April 1945 and the number of planes increased daily till an entire wing was in full operation.

In addition to this main project, a number of minor tasks were completed in the assigned period of time.

V-J day found the 38th on Tinian conscious of its pride in the contributions made to victory. Again the "scuttlebutt" began to fly thick and fast that the 38th is moving further on—this time right into Japan.

On 24th September 1945 the battalion departed for the Japanese mainland. Passing Iwo on the way, we arrived at Tokyo Bay October 4th and began the process of disembarking and unloading. We were to be located at the Yokosuka Naval Base and assigned duties in connection with the occupation of Japan.

“Island Paradise” is the term used by the Japanese to describe the most beautiful of the Pacific Islands. Yes, though many of us may have become unconscious of this fact through loneliness or absorption in our work, the 42 sq. miles which surrounded several months of our everyday wartime life comprised the picturesque “Tinian Scene.” Evidence of the above fact is shown in this group of pictures recorded by our own photographer.

TINIAN TASK

CANEFIELD TO AIRFIELD

CANEFIELD

Almost fantastic feats were accomplished by the Navy's Construction Battalions during the readying of the Marianas B-29 bases. Men and machines worked relentlessly day and night for months preparing the airfields from which the final aerial knockout blow could be made possible.

1500 Seabees landed with the initial forces on Tinian in July 1944 and immediately set to work repairing the damaged Jap-built Ushi Point airfield. 24 hours after the Seabees landed and set to work with 8 trucks, 9 dozers, 2 rollers, and salvaged Jap equipment, the first plane landed on the completed airstrip. During the next 24 hours 330 wounded were evacuated from the island by air.

While fighting was still progressing in some sectors, work was begun on a field for Navy patrol bombers. After 45 days and nights of continuous work, a field was made ready 11 days ahead of schedule. In that time the construction of the 6000 ft. runway involved the moving of nearly 1,000,000 cu. yds. of earth and coral while 900,000 truck miles were absorbed.

At the peak of construction on North and West Fields there were 13,000 Seabees engaged in the work, either in administration or field labor. Less than 8 months after the initial landings on Tinian this body of construction men had the world's largest airdrome ready for full scale operation, with the exception of final asphaltic concrete surfacing.

West Field alone involved about 3,000,000 cu. yds. of earth and coral work and the placing of 1,000,000 cu. yds. of coral surfacing material. 230 trucks, 20 power shovels, 66 tractors, pans and dozers, 15 motor patrols, and 12 rollers comprised the major portion of equipment on this project. It was also on this field that the 38th invested 88,312 man-days of work.

North Field, in which the 38th also had an interest, was situated on the same site as the Japanese Ushi Point Field. In 23 years of occupation the Japanese had placed 7,000 ft. of surfaced runways and taxiways in the field, whereas in just a few short months gigantic North Field had grown to a base equivalent to a surfaced strip 18 miles long and 265 ft. wide. Total earth and coral work figured at 11,874,400 cu. yds.—a volume equal to 4 Boulder Dams—and 2,458,015 sq. yds. of asphaltic concrete 2 in. thick were used to surface the fields.

NORTH CRUSHER AND ASPHALT PLANT

In a few words we wish to pay a humble statement of gratitude to our own "men in white". These are the men who worked patiently in a cloud of irritating coral dust, tending and operating the crushers so that the rough surface of Tinian could be turned into a smooth asphaltic concrete mat for operation of the B-29 Superfortresses. They indeed contributed so much in discomfort in our struggle for final victory that their task can not be casually waved on as just another deed.

Commander George Rezac
38th Naval Construction Battalion
APO 247

Dear Commander :

This is a letter for you and your command to show our recognition of the help that your organization has given the G-2 Section of the Island Command at Tinian in its program of eliminating the Japanese Militaries at large.

Your men have helped save the lives of approximately twenty-five American servicemen by their cooperative spirit and their willingness to carry on the true Seabee tradition, which is: Help getting things done.

The service the 38th Seabees rendered on so many occasions to the tired patrols, as well as the treatment shown towards the surrendering prisoners of war was a big factor in the success of the Prisoner-Contact Program that accomplished the feat in persuading more than four hundred Japanese soldiers to surrender.

For your information as well as your men, it might be of interest to know that the 38th Seabee trash dump, directly and indirectly, has accounted for approximately two hundred of the number mentioned above.

My patrol and I thank you and your men for every aid and courtesy extended. You have been a credit to your branch of the service.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ Charles F. Erb, Jr.

SAFETY CAMPAIGN

- - - CAN DOINGS - - -

FROM TEN WHEELS AND A MOTOR TO
A 1ST CLASS FIRE TRUCK

You have often heard of the slogan of the Navy's Seabees: "Can Do". But have you ever stopped to think of just what it means or stands for? It is not just a versatility in the manner of doing different jobs which makes them worthy and capable of such a slogan, but it also includes the ability to accomplish things out of the ordinary with a minimum of resources. In a word it is ingenuity, an ever present trait among the construction men of the Navy, which brought about the phrase, "Can Do."

This section has been set aside to illustrate the ingenuity of our own men in a few outstanding cases. Of course, it was impossible to record all such cases here, but these are a truly representative group. Reinforcement of truck beds with Jap rails, the building-up of shovel teeth with Jap tank armor plate, and many others too numerous to mention proved over and over the resourcefulness of the men of the 38th.

SIXTH U. S. N. CQNSTR. BRIGADE

c/o Fleet Post Office—
San Francisco, California

17 July 1945

From: Acting Officer in Charge, 6th USN Construction Brigade
To: All Regiments and Battalions
Subject: Citation and Decoration of Brigade Commander
Encl.: (A) Citation of Commodore Paul J. Halloran, CEC, USN-Copy of

1. The Officer-in-Charge, 6th USN Construction Brigade, Commodore P. J. Halloran, has been awarded a gold star in lieu of a second Legion of Merit by Commander Marianas. This award was made for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service in connection with the base development program of Tinian.

2. Commodore Halloran, in a letter to this officer, wrote: "I wished I could divide the award into 15,000 pieces, because I felt that each and every man in the Brigade deserved the honor, just as much as I did. I want the men to know much I have appreciated their very loyal support and, also, to know that other people realize how industriously they have carried on the program at Tinian. Each of us had our proportionate share . . . . Please take steps to see that my feelings are expressed to all the officers and men remaining and to those who have gone on to other duties."

APO 183, c/o POSTMASTER
San Francisco Calif.

18 August 1945

SUBJECT: Commendation
TO: Commanding Officer
38th Naval Construction Battalion
Fleet Post Office, San Francisco, Calif.

1. On 4 August 1945 one of our B-29 airplanes crashed after take-off on Able Runway, West Field. A fire truck from your battalion was dispatched to the scene of the crash, and stood by to render aid and assistance.

2. The promptness in arrival of your fire equipment to act as a team member in the joint effort to save human lives and valuable government property is worth of commendation. Due to the presence in the aircraft of high explosive bombs, which were exploded about ten minutes after the crash, the presence of your personnel in the vicinity of the crash was a high exhibition of personal courage on the part of each man. I wish to extend my personal thanks for your cooperation and aid.

V-J DAY AND FINAL VICTORY

We were indeed happy to learn of the final surrender of Nazi Germany. But we really "let go" when the announcement came over the air that Japan was suing for peace. After many long hours of tense waiting, the tremendous news became final: "Japan accepts Potsdam Surrender Terms." The war was really over. Now to get home.

GENERAL INTEREST VIEWS

It had become a custom of each Seabee unit in the Marianas to sponsor a B-29 Superfortress, so on 6 January 1945, the 38th joined the clan and selected its "CB-29". The plane chosen belonged to the 313th Wing, 504th Bomber Group, 398th Squadron—one of the first squadrons to land on Tinian's partially constructed North Field.

This newly adopted four-motored giant received the name "Coral Queen" with the sentiment that she would be based majestically on an airfield which the 38th had helped to hew out of the coral on the tropical island of Tinian. The symbol of the battalion was painted in bright colors on one side of the huge shining nose, while on the other side there appeared a Seabee's version of what a coral queen should look like.

To the crew of the plane it meant the new-found friendship and hospitality of the 38th Seabees, while to the 38th it meant a representative "team" in the "big game" for which they could root. Time after time our boys "sweated" their "team" off to the challenge and would rejoice with it upon a victorious return.

One day in March 1945, as the men of the 38th peered anxiously into a northern sky, the "Coral Queen" failed to appear. Returning pilots of the squadron reported, "Coral Queen downed over target". That day a great plane and a great crew WERE lost, but in their places followed many more planes and many more crews who carried on and completed the task which the others had so gallantly started.

IN MEMORIAM

The war-time President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt, died April 12th 1945. The battalion, in common with all Americans whether at home or abroad, mourned the loss of its great Commander-in-Chief by flying the flag at half mast for an entire month.

The President died in line of duty. So did the 15 men to whom we dedicate this page.

For every victory a price must be paid, not only in materials and machiness but in human lives. May we never forget the debt we owe to those who gave their all. Thus, with sincerety and love, we dedicate this tribute to those who gave their lives for us. May God rest their souls in peace.

THE THIRTY-EIGHTH SEABEE BATTALION

The Battalion was commissioned at Camp Allen, Virginia on 18 November, 1942. Following a brief basic and advanced training, they arrived in the Aleutians to work under adverse conditions for sixteen months. During this deployment, they were divided into three sections, one in Kiska, and two in Adak. The Battalion returned to the States to Camp Parks in May 1944 and deployed two detachments to the Elks Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve No. 1 in California.

Their second tour began on 25 November, 1944 at Tinian Island in the Marianas via Pearl Harbor. There they worked around the clock in the tropical heat to construct six runways, two miles long, blasted out of coral rock to support the B-29 bombers that brought the end to World Warr II. Eventually the "Enola Gay" made her historic flight from Tiwian that ended hostilities.

Following the surrender, the men continued to Japan to serve in the initial occupation at Hiroshima, Kabayana, Yokusuka and Omura. The Battalion was decommissioned at Port Hueneme on 15 August 1945.
