

BOOZ, ALLEN AND HAMILTON, INC.

SOURCE MATERIALS ON NAVAL RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

MANAGEMENT, 1946-1973

Operational Archives
Naval Historical Center
June 1980

These materials were accumulated by a study team of Booz, Allen and Hamilton, Inc., which in 1976 completed a two-volume report entitled Review of Navy R and D Management, 1946-1973. The work was sponsored by a Department of the Navy Contract.

Included in this collection are a variety of source materials collected and used by the Booz, Allen group. The following categories are found:

Boxes 1-6: Unclassified subject files containing correspondence, instructions, publications, research notes, and related materials on naval commands, bureaus, and offices involved in research and development management; organizational studies having a bearing on this subject; and regarding individual weapon systems or other research and development projects. The materials are arranged alphabetically by their folder titles.

Box 7: Security-classified subject files on the following weapon systems: Bulldog, Bullpub, Corvus, Condor, Eagle, Polaris, and Typhon.

Boxes 8-11: Reports, publications, and miscellaneous papers bearing on all aspects on naval research and development.

Box 12: Tape recordings of interviews with key individuals in the naval research and development community. (See enclosure 1 for list).

Box 13: Transcripts of tape interviews with members of the naval research and development community. (See enclosure 2 for list).
