NARRATIVE

1991 commenced with AUSTIN moored port side to, Pier 12 at Norfolk Naval Station in a Pre Overseas Movement leave period.

On the 23rd of January AUSTIN departed Norfolk enroute to Morehead City, NC, as part of MARG 1-91, in company with USS GUADALCANAL and USS CHARLESTON under the operational command of COMPHIBRON EIGHT, Commodore Turner. Embarked aboard were Bravo and Echo platoons from SEAL Team EIGHT and Landing Craft LCU-1662 from ACU TWO in Little Creek, Va. The following day MARG 1-91 arrived in Morehead City, NC and commenced embarking elements of 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit (Special Operations Capable). Included were Battalion Landing Team 2/8, Force Reconnaissance Platoon 2/8, Special Boat Unit Twenty, Beachmasters Unit 2 and Amphibious Assault Vehicle Platoon 2/8. On the afternoon of 24 January 1991, MARG 1-91 left Morehead City and steamed east towards Rota, Spain arriving on 4 February.

After a two day port visit and turn over with MARG 2-90, AUSTIN departed Rota, Spain and on 6 February passed through the Straits of Gibraltar and steamed into the Mediterranean. AUSTIN sailed to Almeria Spain for Exercise Spanish Air Assault. Upon arrival in Almeria on 8 February she anchored and disembarked elements of 24 MEU who took part in ground troop movements with Spanish Marines until 17 February.

From Almeria, Spain, the MARG proceeded to the east coast of Corsica, France via the Straits of Bonifacio for Exercise CORSICA 91. The rehearsal assault took place upon arrival on the morning of 20 February and the main assault followed on the morning of 21 February. After the main assault AUSTIN remained at anchor off the coast of Corsica until the exercise completed on 23 February.

From Corsica, Spain, the MARG proceeded to Toulon, France for a restricted availability arriving on 25 February. The MARG remained in France for almost four weeks, taking tours, seeing the sights and enjoying the night life of Toulon.

On 20 March the MARG departed Toulon for the Set, France operations area where it took part in Exercise MAYFLOWER 91. There was a turn away assault on the coast of France on 24 March and the main assault on the following day. After recovering the assault force it departed Set enroute Palmy de Mallorca, Spain.

MARG 1-91 arrived in Palmy de Mallorca on 28 March where it enjoyed a port visit for one week. There were tours and beaches and plenty of local color as the celebrations of Easter Week were in full swing. On 5 April the MARG attempted to set sail, but was prevented by high winds from departing until the following day.

From Palmy de Mallorca the MARG proceeded to Capo Tulado, Sardinia, Italy, arriving on 7 April, for Exercise SARDINIA 91 which lasted 6 days. The exercise involved practicing responses to a developing crisis. Such real world crisis developed and Exercise SARDINIA was cut short by the COMSIXTHFLT order to proceed to Iskenderun, Turkey in support of Operation PROVIDE COMFORT. The AUSTIN, in company with USS GUADALCANAL and USS CHARLESTON backloaded her landing force and departed Sardinia on 10 April. The MARG proceeded east through the straits of Messina, south of Greece and north of the Island of Crete enroute to Iskenderun.

The three ships arrived in Iskenderun and anchored on 14 April. This was the first time in twelve years that U.S. Navy ships had put into this Turkish port. On 18 April AUSTIN proceeded pier side and commenced off loading elements of 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit. These elements were sent inland providing protection and provisions to aid the Kurdish refugees being driven out of northern Iraq by Saddam Hussein's forces.

After off loading 24 MEU, AUSTIN waited pier side for 10 days completing the arduous task of a complete off load of combat Marines, their vehicles, ammunition, and supplies. AUSTIN then proceeded to the Iskenderun Operations Area, on 29 April, for training evolutions. Operation PROVIDE COMFORT saved the lives of untold numbers of Kurdish refugees. AUSTIN, however, was not content to remain idle. With her Marines in the Eastern Turkey and Northern mountains of Iraq, she was ordered to depart alone in support of the largest annual allied maritime exercise of the year, Exercise DRAGON HAMMER.

On 2 May she turned west and proceeded first to Alicante, Spain to embark the staffs of CTF 503 and 504 and then to Brindisi, Italy to embark the San Marco Battalion. AUSTIN arrived in Alicante, Spain on 6 May, stayed at anchor for a few hours and then proceed directly to Brindisi, Italy by way of the Straits of Messina and then around the "heel" of Italy arriving on 9 May. She departed from Brindisi on 11 May and proceeded to Gulfo de Squillace, Italy for the rehearsal where she was joined by ITS CASTILLA, ITS VENEDITO, ITS ARDITO and ITS DESCUBIERTO. Capt C. C. Buchanan Jr., U.S. Navy, relieved Capt C. M. Degruy on 13 May while enroute to the exercise area. Following the rehearsal the Multi-National Task Force proceeded to Capo Tulada and were taken under attack by opposing green forces enroute.

The Task Force arrived at Capo Tulada on 16 May. AUSTIN and CASTILLA assaulted the beach from anchor while the other ships provided cover from the opposing forces. On the morning of 18 MAY AUSTIN was constructively sunk by opposing forces and was out of the exercise until the completion of the exercise on 22 May.

From Capo Tulada AUSTIN proceeded to Naples, Italy for a much needed port visit and restricted availability. She spend a very enjoyable 6 days in Naples until she was ordered to return post haste to Iskenderun to pick up her troops. She departed Naples on 31 May and anchored in the harbor at Iskenderun on 04 June.

AUSTIN remained at anchor and supported her troops involved in Operation PROVIDE COMFORT. The backload of her Marines was delayed and AUSTIN departed Turkey for Haifa, Israel on 2 July. AUSTIN returned to Iskenderun on 9 July. The 24 MEU made their way back slowly overland from Iraq through Turkey. National policy kept U.S. Marines in Iraq and on the Turkish border until a U.N. team could take over to guarantee security of the Kurdish people. With the backload complete, MARG 1-91 departed Iskenderun on 19 July and proceeded to Rota, Spain. On 25 July the AUSTIN passed through the Straits of Gibraltar and detached from COMSIXTHFLT. A brief period moored to Pier 3 of Naval Station, Rota, Spain on 26 July marked the only stop on the way home.

MARG 1-91 continued its transit and reached Morehead City, N.C. on 5 August. After completing a well deck off load, AUSTIN moored the next day port side to, Port Terminal, Morehead City, N.C. - and off loaded elements of 24 MEU (Special Operations Capable) including units from Battalion Landing Team 2/8, Force Reconnaissance Platoon 2/8, Seal Team Eight, Special Boat Unit, Beachmasters 2, Amphibious Assault Vehicle Platoon 2/8, and Land Craft Unit 1662). After completing the off load, AUSTIN embarked TIGERS and departed for Norfolk, VA.

AUSTIN's homecoming occured the next day and moored Pier 3, berth 2, at Naval Base, Norfolk, VA. The ship was greeted by COMPHIBRON EIGHTEEN. After the well planned festivities were complete, AUSTIN commenced it's post over seas deployment leave period.

AUSTIN's highly successful six and a half month deployment wore heavily on her material readiness. To return her to a high level of readiness a RAV/IMAV period commenced 26 August. The following months involved an entire series of surveys and inspections including Electrical Calibration Lab Evaluation/Inspection, Damage Control 3M Inspection, Industrial Hygiene Survey, Aviation Assist Visit, Command Assessment Diagnostic Survey, and Mogas Improvement Inspection. Several groups of navigation teams and deck officers honed their skills by plying the waters adjacent to Annapolis, MD aboard Naval Academy's YPs.

As plans for an early 1992 yard period began to formalize, the AUSTIN commenced preparations for entering dry dock. Several major preparatory events included an ammunition off load conducted from 4 to 7 November. JP-5 and F-76 was off loaded 25 and 26 November to lighten the ship and make tanks accessible for inspection. The RAV/IMAV was concluded by a successful LOE inspection by COMPHIBRON TWELVE 3-6 December. During the same period of time, AUSTIN's crew demonstrated their skill and knowledge in the Amphibious Surface Warfare Training Week.

With AUSTIN'S engineering plant returned to a high state of readiness, full attention was paid to finalizing plans for the anticipated January, 1992 yard period. 14 December marked the beginning of a well deserved Christmas holiday leave period. Yet the remaining crew worked diligently to ensure maximum benefit would be gained from the yard period.
