

JANUARY 9, 1816.

With every expedient of economy that I find possible, I am living at an expense which, at the end of two years from my arrival in this country, would more than absorb the whole salary for those two years, even with the allowance for the outfit.

A very few years' residence here must involve my own affairs beyond all power of redemption.

Extracts of a letter from Mr. Adams to the Secretary of State, dated

JANUARY 4, 1816.

It is very desirable that some general revision of the consular establishments should be made, and some regular system concerning them be sanctioned by law. For the port of London a provision for the compensation of the consul must be made, or the office must be given to some wealthy merchant established in the city, to whom it may be acceptable for the facilities of business which he may derive from it. Colonel Aspinwall cannot hold it long without a salary, or without forming a commercial establishment connected with it, and upon which alone he must rely for support.

In one of his late letters to me, (a copy of which has been transmitted to you,) Mr. Beasley expresses the conviction that the provision made by the laws of the United States for the relief of indigent and destitute seamen in foreign ports is liable to great abuse. The late and present excessive numbers of persons claiming the benefit of it, both at London and Liverpool, afford confirmations of that opinion; but, on the other hand, it is obvious that, with the increase of our commerce and navigation, the casualties incident to them must have proportionably multiplied. The opportunities and the chances of imposition must also be much greater, and require more caution to be guarded against in England than in any other country; and I believe it will be uniformly found, in a time of general European peace, that the duty of affording relief to the objects of this class really entitled to it, and that of discriminating between them and the impostors who would prey upon the fund allotted to this honorable purpose, will be the most arduous and important obligation of an American consul. * * * Mr. Bourne, the consul at Amsterdam, has also lately written to me on the same subject, and complains of similar charges. His claims for particular compensation to himself for his long services there, have been often made known to the Government.

The direct commerce between the United States and the port of London is comparatively small. The number of American vessels which come to it is inconsiderable. The official emoluments from year's end to year's end will not pay office rent and the wages of a single clerk. If the support and reconveyance to the United States of destitute seamen be made the duty of the consul, some provision for the payment of the necessary expenses of this service must be made.

14th CONGRESS.]

No. 410.

[2d SESSION.]

REGISTER OF THE OFFICERS AND AGENTS OF THE UNITED STATES, AND THE FORCE
AND CONDITION OF THE NAVY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1816.

COMMUNICATED TO CONGRESS BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE, ON THE 2D OF DECEMBER, 1816.

Resolution requiring the Secretary of State to compile and print, once in every two years, a register of all officers and agents, civil, military, and naval, in the service of the United States.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That, once in two years, a register containing correct lists of all the officers and agents, civil, military, and naval, in the service of the United States, made up to the last day of September of each year in which a new Congress is to assemble, be compiled and printed under the direction of the Secretary for the Department of State. And, to enable him to form such register, he, for his own Department, and the heads of the other Departments, respectively, shall, in due time, cause such lists as aforesaid of all officers and agents in their respective Departments, including clerks, cadets, and midshipmen, to be made and lodged in the office of the Department of State; and the said lists shall exhibit the amount of compensation, pay, and emoluments allowed to each officer, agent, clerk, cadet, and midshipman, the state or country in which he was born, and where employed.

2. Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy subjoin to the list of the persons employed in his Department the names, force, and condition of all the ships and vessels belonging to the United States, and when and where built.

3. Resolved, That five hundred copies of the said register be printed; and that, on the first Monday in January in each year when a new Congress shall be assembled, there be delivered to the President, the Vice President, each head of a Department, each member of the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, one copy of such register, and to the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives, each, ten copies, for the use of the respective Houses; that twenty-five copies shall be deposited in the library of the United States at the seat of Government, to be used like other books in that library; and that the residue of the said copies be disposed of in such manner as Congress shall from time to time direct.

4. Resolved, That, for the information of the present Congress, such register as aforesaid be prepared and distributed as aforesaid on the first day of its next session.

Approved: April 27, 1816.

NOTE.—The compensation, pay, and emoluments of the officers of the custom-house department, as given above, are stated upon the authority of a report from the Comptroller's office. The principal source of their compensation is to be found in fees and commissions. In some instances they receive, in addition, certain salaries. In most of those cases where no definite sums are stated in the second column, the officers, it is believed, receive only fees and commissions.

SIR:

ADJUTANT AND INSPECTOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, November 8, 1816.

Agreeably to the orders of the War Department of July 23, and conformably to a resolution of Congress dated April 27, 1816, I have the honor to lay before you a corrected list of the officers of the army, arranged by departments, and corps, and lineal seniority, showing the State or country in which each was born, so far as I have been able to obtain reports, together with a statement of the pay and subsistence of every description of troops in the army of the United States.

I have also to state that John M. Hepburn, born in Maryland, and Brooke Williams, born in the District of Columbia, are employed as clerks in this office; the former receives $1,200, and the latter $1,100 per annum.

I have the honor to be, sir, with perfect respect, your obedient servant,

The SECRETARY OF WAR.

D. PARKER,
Adjutant and Inspector General.

No. 411.

[2d SESSION.

PLAN TO INSURE THE ANNUAL SETTLEMENT OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS, AND A MORE CERTAIN ACCOUNTABILITY OF THE PUBLIC EXPENDITURES.

COMMUNICATED TO THE SENATE, DECEMBER 9, 1816.

In obedience to the resolution of the Senate of the 20th April last, requiring the Secretaries of the Departments to report jointly to the Senate, in the first week of the next session of Congress, a plan to insure the annual settlement of the public accounts, and a more certain accountability of the public expenditure in their respective Departments, the undersigned have the honor to report:

That, in order to comply with the requisitions of the resolution, and to satisfy the just expectations of the Senate, it is necessary to inquire into the causes of the delay in the annual settlement of accounts, and the want of sufficient certainty in the accountability of the respective Departments, upon which the resolution is predicated.

An attentive review of the principles upon which the several Departments of the Government were originally organized, and of the changes which have successively been made in that organization, appears to be necessary at the threshold of this investigation.

By referring to the laws for organizing the several Departments of the Government, they will be found to be extremely general in their terms, leaving the distribution of the duties and powers of the Secretaries in a considerable degree to executive regulation. The law organizing the Treasury Department, however, specifically refers to that Department the settlement of all public accounts. The pecuniary embarrassments by which the Government was pressed at that period, requiring a system of the most rigid economy in the public disbursements, could not fail to give peculiar force to the idea that the Department charged with the replenishment of the treasury should have a direct control over the public expenditure. Under the influence of this idea, all purchases for supplying the army with provisions, clothing, supplies in the quartermaster's department, military stores, Indian goods, and all other supplies or articles for the use of the War Department, were, by executive regulation, directed to be made by the Treasury Department.

The first important change which was made in the organization of the War Department was effected by the act of the 8th of May, 1792, which created the office of Accountant of that Department, and referred to that officer the settlement of all accounts relative to the pay of the army, the subsistence of the officers, bounties to soldiers, expenses of the recruiting service, and the incidental and contingent expenses of the Department. The accounts settled by the Accountant were to be certified quarterly, and sent to the accounting officers of the Treasury for their revision. This act continues with the Treasury Department the power of making for the War Department the purchases before enumerated.

On the 30th of April, 1798, the Navy Department was created. From the organization of the Government to this date, the Secretary of War executed the orders of the President in relation to the navy. On the 16th of July, in the same year, the office of Accountant of the Navy was created, and the settlement of all accounts in the Navy Department was referred to that office. On the same day the power of the Treasury Department to make contracts for the War Department was rescinded, and all the accounts of that Department were thenceforward to be settled by the Accountant.

The power of revision, both as to the accounts of the War and Navy Departments, was, and still is, reserved to the accounting officers of the Treasury. This power, however, from the period that the primary settlement of the accounts of the War and Navy Departments was withdrawn from the Treasury, ceased to be useful, and has been preserved merely for the sake of form. In the Treasury, balances or debts admitted on settlement are paid only upon the report of the Auditor, confirmed by the Comptroller, whose decision is final. In the War and Navy Departments, the sums reported by the Accountants to be due to individuals are paid, without waiting for the revision of the accounting officers of the Treasury. This practice, which has been adopted in some measure from necessity, is not believed to be incompatible with the provisions of the law requiring that revision. The Accountants of the War and Navy Departments are required to transmit, quarterly, all the accounts which have been settled to the
